A political appointment for himself is the only prospect the pie hunters recognize.

The great common people are not fools. They are satisfied with present conditions and are grateful. That's why they will re-elect Woodrow Wilson.

SUPPORTS WILSON.

New York, Sept. 28.—Frederick F. Ayer, author, lawyer and financier, a Republican of many years' standing, has forwarded to Vance C. McCormick, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, a check for $1,000 as a contribution to the campaign to re-elect President Wilson.

"Convinced as I am that Mr. Wilson is one of the greatest Presidents we have ever had, his hatred of war and love of his country perching like jewels in his crown of office, I send you herewith inclosed my check for $1,000 to be added to the national campaign fund for his election," says Mr. Ayer in a letter accompanying his contribution.

HENRY FORD'S REASONS FOR SUPPORTING WILSON.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—Henry Ford Republican, will cast his vote for Woodrow Wilson, Democrat, in November, and today he gave his reasons in details for doing so.

"To begin with," declared Mr. Ford, "I'm supporting Wilson because Wall Street is supporting the other man, or, rather, because Wall Street is against Wilson."

"I'm for Wilson because he is 'on to' the interests—the 'unseen hands' that seek to control Government—and is holding them off. That he is 'on to' them and is holding them off is proved by his refusal to rush into war with Mexico, sacrificing the lives of thousands of young Americans to save the dollars that Wall Street has invested in Mexico or a gamble."

"For this one reason alone the Nation is under an obligation to return Wilson to the White House."

The Business Reasons.

"But for purely business reasons, which may appeal more directly to many men, the welfare of the country demands Wilson's re-election. The Republicans are raising a great roar about the Eight-Hour Law and how it will hamper business."

"I say—and I speak from experience, not from guesswork—that the eight-hour law will help business."

"The employers of the country should be as enthusiastically behind Wilson in his advocacy of the eight-hour day as the workers, and they would be if they knew their business. For employers who are hostile to the eight-hour day do not know their business."

"We have had the eight-hour day in force in the Ford factory for three years, and we have made more money each succeeding year under it. It has proved its own merit."

"Republicans are arguing that when the war ends all our prosperity will cease—unless we have a Republican in the White House."

"I deny first that war is responsible for the present prosperity. The Ford Company has not taken a dollar of war contracts—has refused them time after time—and yet our business has grown constantly and we are now 200,000 cars behind orders."

Can't Stop Momentum.

"The business of the United States today has a momentum that no man or group of men can stop. 'As for the tariff, which Republicans insist must be revised to help save our prosperity after the war, I want to say that the tariff is nothing but a hot-house remedy. It may make business sprout for a little while, but its effect is artificial and it can never produce a hardy, permanent business plant."

"If we cannot compete on even terms with any country on earth, then we ought to quit. There is absolutely no necessity for hard times. There is enough in this world to do for everybody, and this country always will find enough to do if the interests and Wall Street will keep hands off and not rob the many to enrich the few."

"I believe the President hit the nail on the head in a recent speech when he said: 'The relations of capital and labor must be regarded as a human relationship of men with men. Labor must be regarded as part of the general partnership of energy which is going to make for the success of business men and business enterprises.'"

"When we get somewhere near that basis the real causes of hard times will disappear. And I believe that Wilson as President will do more to bring an approach to those conditions than Hughes."

"I know Hughes. Teddy and Wall Street are behind him."

"I'm a Republican, but I'm for Wilson. I'm a Republican for the same reason I have ears—I was born that way. But I'm for Wilson because I believe he can do more to enhance the prosperity and insure the peace of this Nation than any other candidates. Any one who does not want peace, and who wants to gamble with prosperity should vote against him."

NEW RURAL CREDITS LAW ENACTED BY CONGRESS.

The measure has been thoroughly discussed during the past ten or twelve years. The law enacted is a great improvement upon any single measure offered. It is especially better because of its simplicity, directness, better because largely the matter is left in the hands of the farmers.

The whole system begins with the National Farm Loan Association. That is a voluntary coming together of ten or more farmers who want to borrow money. This commission saves the bonus that has heretofore been paid to these loan agents, representing the insurance companies, trust companies and bond brokers, and certain loan associations whose business may suffer. Farmers meet, organize, make application for loans, subscribe for the stock in the National Loan Commission to the extent of only 5 per cent. of their loan, have their property valued and send their application to the nearest Federal farm bank, of which there are twelve in the country.

There is no trouble about getting the money. If the Federal farm bank of one district does not have it, it will come from another. The capital stock of these farm banks, if not taken by the public, will be taken by the United States.

Moreover, these farm mortgages will be exempt from all taxes in whatever hands they fall. This creates a market for them, so that when the capital of the farm bank is absorbed the public can take these mortgages off of the hands of the banks.

These banks are not deposit banks, and therefore do not interfere with the regular organizations. They are loan banks.

GREAT FINANCIER COMES OUT FOR WILSON.

New York, Sept. 28.—Roger W. Babson, of Boston, a lifelong Republican, and regarded in some quarters as America's foremost statistician and financial expert, announced today that he would vote and work for the re-election of President Wilson.

"It is because Mr. Wilson seems more interested than Mr. Hughes in the moral side of such questions as banking, shipping, railroading, tariff, labor and relations with other nations, that I now intend to vote for him in November," said Mr. Babson.

Not only is Mr. Babson more widely known in the United States to readers of magazines and students of economics than any other writer on finance and business, but he has an international reputation as an authority on foreign trade relations.

As the season develops the black velvet shapes in angular lines are growing more extreme; while Tans, Toques and Sailors are continuing to be much in demand.

Autumn Dresses

In our showing of dresses for Fall you see not only Fashion's latest decree in style and color, but you will at once note the unique and individual features that lift them above the common place—lending them originality and exclusiveness.

Serge Dresses are Favored for Fall
